simple solutions for your home pc

PREVENTATIVE MAINTENANCE

Your home pc requires regular maintenance for it to continue working at optimum performance. Sitting on the floor or desk of your home the pc will suck in dirt and dust that will eventually cause it to overheat and could result in data loss. Over time your hard drive will become fragmented and your machines speed will slow to a fraction of what it was when it was new. Regular routine maintenance will alleviate these symptoms.

REGULAR UPGRADES

In today's technologically advanced world nothing stands still, your computers software and hardware have to be routinely updated to remain efficient and secure from attack. Your operating system requires regular security and software updates. Your hardware needs to be upgraded periodically allowing the software to work at peak efficiency.

HOME SOLUTIONS

Many setup issues can be resolved on site. Regular preventative maintenance, virus scan & update, malware removal, network and wireless setup are just a few services that we can complete quickly and efficiently at your premises.

OFF SITE SOLUTIONS

Some repairs and software installations require additional time to complete. Hardware updates, data retrieval, hard drive reformatting and new software installation will require a technician to thoroughly test your machine to ensure it is working correctly.

SPECIALIST SOLUTIONS

With an in depth experience of the commercial pc and networking market we offer a bespoke home networking service. Your home will have all the pc's and laptops linked to a network allowing for easy file sharing and printer sharing, as if it were a professional office environment.
